REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 29 .- "Young Corbett" to-day confessed that it was love for a pretty Denver girl that was at the botfom of his victory over "Terrible Terry" in the ring here vesterday.

"I may as well tell you," said the new pugliistic star, "that I am engaged to be married, but no date has been set. My sweetheart lives in Denver, and it was a good deal for her sake that I trained so hard for this fight. I do not wish to have getting smarter until the time came when I had to pay for it. Oh, yes. I thought I was going to have a pienic. I said to myself: Here is a young fellow who has got nothing the middle of the said to myself. her name brought before the public at this time, and I will not announce it, but she is a swell fellow."

As the champion spoke, he pulled out a Vignette of the Denver girl, and it looked as if he had not overestimated her good qualities or good looks. She has roguish black eyes, raven black hair and a very sweet face. That was as the picture went. Corbett said he believed it would be wise for him to get married, as he was not fond of reaming around, and he is essentially domestic in his tastes.

"I have not made any business engagements or done anything towards another fight," he said, "and I will not come to any decision for at least six weeks. I am going home to Denver to rest.

I decided some time ago to open a hotel in the central part of Denver, and I have the location picked out. My plans are to make money, and I intend to fight again, In two months or so I will be ready to make arrangements to defend my title, and It will be first come, first served.

Will Give McGovern a Chance. "McGovern will have an even chance with the other challengers. I have received word that a big reception awaits me in Denver, and Sheriff Jones of Arapahoe County, who put up $500 on me, will head a processton in my honor.

"I will tell you how I came to get interested in boxing. When I was in school my folks did not want me to associate with tough boys, and because I would not play with some they pitched into me. I was obliged to defend myself, and so I picked out the biggest rowdy of all and defeated firm in thirteen rounds with the gloves.

That was the first fight I ever had. It was for $1 and a hair cut, and the opportunity to be let alone by those I did not care to associate with."

It was a very sore lot of gentlemen that nbied at the various sporting centers in town to-day to discuss the defeat of Mc-Govern, whom every one considered an easy winner, at the hands of Young Corbett. At the Broadway Hotel, where these men gather, there was a general air of gloom, and at Wakely's and other places the sporting men conversed in whispers as if they were discussing some national calamity. It would be difficult to estimate how much money was wagered on the fight all together, but the amount will run up well into six good figures. At Wakely's place alone this gorning and last night fully $15,000 of Mc-Govern money was paid over to jubilant "Itold-you-so's," who had taken flyers on the Terry McGovern's Challenge.

New York, Nov. 29.—Sam Harris, acting for Terry McGovern, posted a forfeit of E.-500 to-day, and issued a challenge to Young Corbett, who defeated Terry in Hartford terday, for another battle. Harris has backing for $100,000 that Terry in knock out Corbett inside of twenty rounds.

If Young Corbett will accept the purse of $10,000 offered by Jim Kennedy of the Twentieth Century Athletic Club of San Francisco, at the ring side after the battle yesterday evening. Harris will not only make a bet for any amount desired by the Dena bet for any amount desired by the Denvertie, up to the sum stated, but he will agree that Young Corbett take the entire purse as well as the side bet if Terry does not put him out within the limit.

On the other hand Harris agrees to see that Young Corbett receives a loser's end if he is defeated. In fact, he is willing to years in college athletic programmes.

A rule was passed that the limit of four years in college athletics, beyond which a student is not eligible to contest, means four years in the aggregate, and not four years on any on team.

divide the money anyway that the new years on any one team champion desires.

Wants Corbett to Name Date.

All that Harris asks is that Corbett at All that Harris asks is that Corbett at once—me a date at which he will fight Terry. He does not demand that the fight take place within any stipulated time, and is willing to wait if Corbett will only agree to set the date at once. Terry McGovern slept until il o'clock this morning. The little puglist did not look any the worse for the counting which he received at the siept until it o'clock this morning. The furtie pugilist did not look any the worse for the pounding which he received at the hands of Young Corbett last night, and he took his defeat philosophically. He said then he is not going to give up yet; that he will continue to fight any one who challenges him, but he would far prefer another match with his late opponent.

"Young Corbett is as nice a little chap as you would want to talk to," said Terry this morning, "and if he wishes to go around and make capital out of defeating me, why, it's all right. He is a fool if he does not.
All the same, I want another fight with him

DOGS VERY EVENLY MATCHED.

Interstate Championship Narrows Down to Foar.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Paris, Mo., Nov 23.—The Missouri Field Trial Association devoted the entire day to the Interstate championship contest. Three series were run, but the thirteen dogs were so evenly matched that the indigent found it impossible to make the awards, and the contest will be finished to-morrow. The contest, however, was narrowed down to four dogs, and they will be run as foilows: Sport's Boy, with Ortiz Lad; Senator P., with Count Whitestone.

McGovern's defeat by Billy Rothwell Thanksgiving Day has created much com ent among followers of the ring throughout the country, and recalls the fact that Young Corbett, who is now a champion, was dead broke two months ago and wrote a letter from Denver to Charles H. Haughton of this city, beseeching him for railroad fare to this city and a chance to go on with some fighter of his own weight.

At the time Young Corbett wrote the leter he had not a manager and was walktwo stars of the Hamlin stable, was the ing on his uppers in a pecuniary way. feature of the sale of trotters and pacers Scarcely a week after he wrote to Haughto-day. D. Lamar and E. E. Smathers, both of this city, made the bidding for Lord Derby lively until $10,000 was reached. This that he had won $500 on fare off a $10 bill. Young Corbett has heretofore been a first-class specimen of the tramp fighter, going from place to place and living as best he could from one match to another. A former sporting man named Butler, once a bookmaker at Madison and now often seen in St. Louis, was once manager of Corbett. but the fighter's fondness for the flowing bowl, it s said, caused Butler to cut him adrift.

Jack McKenna, who is now handling Ab Attell, had every chance in the world to become Young Corbett's manager when he was in Denver, and refused to take the fighter under his management. Rothwell evidently provided himself with a manager in the meantime, however, as this append-age is referred to in telegraphic reports. Exactly what made Sam Harris and Mc Govern draw up a match with Corbett is difficult to see, as several fighters seemed to

By rather a singular coincidence, McGovern was knocked out in the second round of his battle by a right hook to the jaw, just as his sparring partner was knocked out by Harry Forbes in the second round of their fight, four weeks ago, by a right swing to the law. Both men have met defeat, and in both cases stage life may be assigned as the cause for their condition.

Another match between Harry Forbes and Danny Daugherty is talked of, and if it can be made it will undoubtedly prove a rean drawing card wherever it is fought.

Daugherty has asked Forbes for another go, and the latter is pretty certain to consent, as he feels the greatest confidence in his ability to down Daugherty for the secoud time.

his ability to down Daugherty for the sec-ond time.

That Daugherty was not in the best of trim when he fought here is now generally believed. It is thought that he never ex-pected the fight to take place, believing that Forbes could not make the weight, so did not "in sufficiently for the battle. Anoth-er matthe with Forbes or the pulling off of the White-Yanger fight will doubtless he the next puglistic item to excite attention.

St. Louis University and Marion-Sims May Meet for Second Time-Football Gossip.

Marion-Sims undoubtedly has improved vastly in the last two weeks, and members of the cleven are unanimons in giving much of the credit therefor to Howard Boogher, who has conched the team for the last ten days. The doctors had several plays up their sleeves, which were held in reserve for the C. B. C. team, but which they had no occasion for using in the Thanksgiving game.

Two negro football elevens battled for su premacy on the Handlan's Park gridiron yesterday, Fisk University of Tennessee defeating the Lincoln College team of Jefferson City, Mo., by a score of 11 to 6. Some hard playing was indulged in by the teams, and a fast game resulted. Some kick-offs were witnessed in the game of an extremely creditable nature, and one play, introduced by the Lincoln eleven, proved quite effective. It consisted of holding hands and forming a line at the end of the opposing team, protected by which a back was sent around the end. On one occasion the Lincoln line got hold of a Fisk man by mistake, and, holding him tightly, they used him for their own interference. They were penalized ten yards therefor. Coach Martin Delancy of St. Louis University refereed the game and McDowell of the university team acted as umpire. ANNAPOLIS MEETS WEST POINT TO-DAY.

President and Several Cabinet Members Will Attend Football Game - Intense Rivalry.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL Washington, Nov. 29.-Football appeared to be the principal topic in official Washing-ton to-day. It is said to have been discussed in Jocular vein at the Cabinet meeting.

The fact that the President will attend

he game has given the annual contest a new interest this year. . The party will leave the capital for Philačelphia at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning, and will consist of the President and Mrs Roosevelt, Secretary of War Root, Secretary of the Navy Long, the President's secretary and Mrs. Cortelyou, Assistant Secretary Loeb. General Leonard Wood and Commander and Mrs. Cowles. They will arrive in Philadelphia shortly after 1 o'clock

The intense rivalry between the war and naval colleges has extended to the two departments here, and there will be great excitement and engerness in Washington to and be driven to the field at once. The party will return to Washington immediately after get the news to-morrow. Of course, the two Cabinet officers and the army and navy officers attending will sit on their respective sides of the field, but President Receivelt is said to have solved the problem of avoiding partiality by deciding to sit on one side during the first half of the game and on the other during the last half.

"The only thing wrong with that decision, Mr. President," Secretary Long is represent-ed to have said at the Cabinet meeting, "is that if you want to be on the winning side at the finish you had better occupy an Annapolis box during the last half of the game. "Well, I don't know so much about that," was the quick answer of Secretary Root.

"The fact is that West Point will have a walkover. The betting in New York is 2 to 1 on West Point."
"Up in New England we were taught not to make bets." Secretary Long is declared to have retorted, "and I will not violate the traditions of that gold old section, but I think I can convince the Secretary of War that the chances of Annapolis are better than 3 to 1, as the betting is represented. I am told that there was a prize fight yesterday and that the betting was 3 to 1; yet those who placed the odds lost. So this teaches us that there is no certainty in any matter."

Physicians Differ Over Child's Case.
